

You Won't Believe What's In This Pro Gun Control Xmas Card from The Betsy Riot [WARNING: Graphic Images]

Robert Farago ■ December 19, 2016

According to betsyriot.com, the anonymous group's goal is "decentralized civil disobedience against gun culture." In other words, "to prank, lambaste, and generally fuck up gun culture." Well, they got me. I received the above Christmas card in the mail, expecting a generic Xmas message from one of the people who've provided goods or services to the family Farago. Opening the card, reading an insert inside the blank pages, the mood darkened . . .

Flipping over the insert revealed the true nature of my well-wishers . . .

We know that Michael Cargill, owner of Central Texas Gun Works, got one. One of the younger members of his family opened it. Nice, huh? NRA gun guy Colion Noir got one, too. Question: how did Betsy Riot get the home mailing addresses of so many People of the Gun?
